

Emma Heaver profile

Emma came down to Plymouth from Suffolk to study to be an architect nearly 30 years ago and has stayed in Devon ever since. She has lived in Torbryan for 10 years after spending 2 years converting a barn with her husband. She has her own business and works from home. She is very proud that her 2 children have been educated at local schools and that Denbury cricket club provided a great grounding for her son's love of the game of cricket.

Emma is also a representative on the Clinical Pathway Group for diabetes at Torbay hospital and together with her family tries to fundraise for diabetes charities whenever she can.

Emma and her family are keen Exeter Chiefs rugby supporters. She enjoys walking her dog on Orley Common and exploring the countryside around the parish.
